Only a limited number of applicants can be accommodated, and preference will be given to those Education students who apply early, Dr. Dugger said.

Science Lecturer Scheduled Here For Last Lyceum

A distinguished science lecturer on Hydrology, Mr. Henry W. Anderson, who is Water Source Hydrologist for the U. S. Forest Service Experiment Station in Berkeley, Calif., will be on campus next Monday and Tuesday, Mr. Paul Nelson, BJC Geology instructor, has announced.

WATER CONTROL EXPERT Henry W. Anderson, from Berkeley, Calif., will be the Assembly speaker on Tuesday morning at 9:40, in the Auditorium.

In conjunction with his visit, the Lyceum committee has scheduled him for a Tuesday morning assembly starting at 9:40 in the Auditorium, when Mr. Anderson will speak on "Water Source Hydrology."

"In view of Idaho's problems of snow and water, Mr. Anderson's appearance is expected to attract much attention among professional engineers, foresters, etc.," Mr. Nelson said, "and we are glad to be able to present him to students and faculty interested in the field."

The hydrology expert will appear at a public professional meeting Monday night at 8:00 in Library 224, to speak on "Watershed Management for Flood and Sediment Prevention and Water Yield Improvement in the West," to which professionals in the area have been invited. In addition, Mr. Anderson will lecture in BJC classes in Engineering, Forestry and Geology.

Students Donate 105 Pints for Robin

Thursday, April 29, 178 BJC students stood in line, waiting to donate their blood at the Red Cross blood drawing that was held in the Student Union Ballroom.

With the assistance of the Life Lines and Esquires, the American Red Cross started the drawing at 10 a.m., and continued till 3 p.m. Many students waited as long as three hours to donate.

The Esquires were more than pleased at the support they received in donations for 8-year-old Robin Raymond, their adopted member. Robin is the victim of an incurable blood disease in which his white corpuscles do not reproduce and requires three pints of blood per week. With the student donation of 165 pints, Robin will be able to continue an active, normal life.

Leisure is a beautiful garment, but it will not do for constant wear.

Something for Everyone Here

Welcoming the senior girls from valley high schools to our annual spring tea reminds us of the inevitable passage of time, bringing with it a new crop of coeds and collegians.

Enrollment of Boise Junior College, which has more than doubled in the last five years, is steadily going up, as are all classes in crowded colleges all over the nation. There is good reason for this increase, for, quite apart from the baby boom, our College has succeeded in building up a campus full of valuable aids to attract the ambitious young student.

In addition to a well-rounded and carefully outlined curriculum, our college offers a variety of activities in a veritable multitude of fields. Drama, art, music, debate, are all featured in specialized clubs and a roster of activities including special shows, operas, concerts, symphonies, tournaments and field trips is available. Included with the academic studies are special extra-curricular clubs affiliated with special interests ranging from Home Ec, Business, Economics, Engineering, Nursing, three language groups, and special chapters of Phi Beta Kappa (academic honorary), Delta Psi Omega, and Tau Alpha Phi, for vocational students.

Here also are religious groups: Newman, Canterbury and Wesleyan Clubs, Lambda Delta Sigma, an interdenominational Inter Faith Council, and special sessions of breakfast forums at the Christian church. There are social and service clubs for men and women students, and all types of sports available, from rodeo and skiing to mountain rescue and amateur pool tournaments. Politics also is of student interest.

Here is something for everyone seeking higher education.

Hell or HELP Week

During the past few weeks, many students have been busily engaged in pledging to various clubs. There have been comments made both pro and con on this activity and all these clubs have received notice of one sort or another.

There is one club on campus, however, that does not require its members to eat red peppers or onions, or to go wading in the Boise River. Their only requirement is that they be ex-service men to become members of the Esquires.

And what were the Esquires doing during Hell Week when all the other clubs were carrying on their various initiation stunts? They were indulging in a worthwhile campaign of recruiting donors for the blood drawing.

Ramblings

By Marlea Williams

Several members of the BJC Editorial staff had the opportunity to attend a press conference that was held for Bennet Cerf, publisher of Random House, or more familiarly known as a panelist on the television program, "What's My Line."

During the conference, several questions were asked of Mr. Cerf, and his replies were quite interesting and of varying importance to students. "How do publishers deal with 'dirty' books?" he was asked. His reply: "The best way to handle dirty books is to ignore them." People will not be so inclined to buy a dirty book unless it has been talked about a great deal. Then they will run out and get it as quickly as they can. "The good books are the ones that deserve to be loudly publicized."

The most heartbreaking problem of being a publisher, according to Mr. Cerf, is the fact that laws are being passed that say colored children's pictures must appear in the textbooks to be distributed in the North; and that there are to be no pictures of colored children in the textbooks distributed in the South.

On the lighter side, Mr. Cerf was asked where he got all the WORDS WORTH REPEATING . . .

Coeds who feel the ultimate goal of their college careers is to wind up with a well-educated husband may be in for a shock. It is a myth that all the American woman has to do to fulfill herself is to catch a man and devote her life to caring for him, their children and their home.

A professor complained that his coeds were "bright enough. They have to be to get here at all now. But they just won't let themselves get interested. They seem to feel it will get in their way when they marry the young executive and raise all those children in the suburbs. I couldn't schedule the final seminar for senior honor students. Too many kitchen showers interfered. None of them considered the seminar sufficiently important to postpone the kitchen showers." — Betty Friedan, author of the controversial best-seller "The Feminine Mystique," speaking on University of Nevada campus.

jokes that he used in his children's books. In reply to this question, Mr. Cerf simply commented, "From listening to other people." He went on to say that people are so busy with their own concerns that they forget to listen to others.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editors:

In regard to the article in the April 15 issue of the ROUNDUP, "Coeds Cite Early Marriage Pros, Cons," and specifically referring to the "Consensus on 'why' of the early marriage drive," I can say only that those of us who are married college students have been judged unfairly by a panel of which no members are married. The "why's" given never once mentioned love, companionship, or fellowship, or any combination of the three. From the information given I can derive only one conclusion that these are the personal reasons the members of the panel would have for getting married.

MR. AND MRS. KEITH MAY

As far as "lack of participation in social activities of the college," this in a sense is true. We can see no reason to get all dressed up in long formals, white dinner jackets, tux pants, the works, to go to a "formal" and Frug, Dog, Watusi, or Slop to the incessant strumming of over-amplified guitar strappings accompanied by the flailing of drums and the high-pitched wail of a contralto male voice.

I think the young girls had better make a jiffy re-evaluation of the reasons for a college marriage and they could start by obtaining the opinions of those who have more experience with it than they do at this particular state. My wife and I personally dislike being classified as sex-loving, egotistical, social recluses as we have so been by four young, unmarried girls.

MR. AND MRS. KEITH MAY

(Editor's Note: This letter is in rebuttal to the article that was published in the April 15 issue of ROUNDUP. Keith and Marilyn May will both graduate from BJC this year and are planning to attend Washington State University in Pullman, Wash. Keith is studying pre-law and Marilyn is studying secretarial science. Marilyn was on the Dean's list first semester.)

Dear Editors:

On behalf of the Life Lines, I would like to thank the student body of Boise College for their tremendous support with the blood drawing last Thursday. It is indeed gratifying to see the sincere generosity our students shares in helping their fellow men in need.

We are proud of the Esquires for helping Robin and wish to praise them for their outstanding support.

Thanks, Boise College!

BJC Art Show Attracts Crowds

They started pouring in, young and old, as soon as the Library doors were open on Sunday, to view the annual student art show (plus several works by BJC instructors Mr. Louis Peck, Mr. LaVar Steel and Mr. David Oravez).

There is color, humor, ingenuity, talent, great promise and nostalgia represented in every media. The crowd laughed at "My Gal Sal," stood puzzled before some of the impressionistic works.

It doesn't take an artist to appreciate art, according to the professionals, and the growing interest in art is reflected in the largest Art enrollment to date at BJC, including 90 Art majors.

The Air Force documentary paintings will be shown through this week, and the BJC art will be on display until 9 p.m., daily through May 21.

PAPER CLIPS

Skateboards seem to have taken a great hold on the youth of the Northwest. The same thing is true in California. And it appeals to the intellectual class, too. The Daily Trojan reports that skateboards were a common method of transportation in the tunnel which connects the School of Medicine and various parts of the Los Angeles County Hospital, until the school issued a proclamation banning all such goings-on in the tunnel.

Again from California, a protest was heard and reported by The Daily Californian. A University of California coed wanted to hang on the outside of a cable car instead of sitting inside. Her protest was bottled up in a police station, but she said that she would at least register a complaint with the Municipal Railway Company in charge of running cars.

From Spartan Daily of San Jose State College, the school currently in the process of getting ready for student elections, recently had a visit from Nancy Scott, who may be known to some students as the star of the March 1964 issue of Playboy Magazine.

While visiting the college, Miss Scott filed petitions for the vacant junior and senior representative posts.

PRIZE WINNING HOBOES included (seated) Richard Burdick, Best Moocher, Harriett Jones, and Doug Clark.

Tau Alpha Pi Gains $1,200 From March

Tau Alpha Pi's annual "Hobo March" staged last Friday was counted a great success by all concerned. The hoboes, students of the Vocational Department, dressed in their best "Hobo Jungle" finery, marched on the downtown area to collect funds for their scholarship fund.

The hobo army, made up of 100 fellows and girls, left BJC at 8:30 a.m., and spent the morning on the streets of Boise, handing out 2,300 ash trays which were made in the machine shop. After the march, the hoboes retired to Steunenberg Park in front of the capitol building for a hobo lunch of Mulligan stew.

THE BON MARCHE

The "Big Zipper" look is the newest in fashion at the BON MARCHE.

Now ROSE MARIE REID has produced swim suits featuring these Big Zippers. Two-piece suits with zippers up the front of both pieces in dark gray will accent your figure.

For the more conservative person, a one-piece suit with the zipper up the front will be perfect. To go over these suits how about an over-jacket to match, with the big zipper also up the front of it? The jacket is just long enough to cover your swim suit.

The Bon Marche also features swim suits by Bobbie Brooks, Garland, White Stag, in all sizes and colors and shapes. To go with all these suits there are T-shirts, towels and hats. For those chilly evenings, over jackets to match all colors of suits are also popular.

How about a red-checked two-piece suit buttoned down the front and a matching over-jacket of red checked material with a navy blue tie around the bottom?

All these sports fashions can be purchased on the second floor of the BON MARCHE.

Track Squad Preps For ICAC Meet By Hosting C of I Here

With only a second place finish to Whitman in the Northwest Nazarene College Invitational to mar their record, the Boise Junior College Broncos will attempt to close out their regular track schedule Friday on a winning note when they entertain the College of Idaho.

The meet is scheduled to get underway at 3:30 on the Bronco stadium track.

The Broncos to date have swept a dual meet with NNC, their own BJC Invitational, the Treasure Valley Invitational, and last week they took the Valley meet at the C. O. I.

The C of I dual meet will be the final preparation for the Intermountain Collegiate Athletic Conference in Grand Junction, Colo., the weekend of May 15. The Broncos will be out to defend the title they won overwhelmingly last year at Rexburg.

Coach Ray Lewis will be using the C of I meet to get a final look at his men before he makes out his list for the conference meet.

BJC Earns Valley Title at Caldwell

Coach Ray Lewis and his Boise Junior College track team continued to roll along, winning meet after meet with little or no opposition. The Broncos added the annual Valley meet at Haymen field in Caldwell to their list of conquests when they picked up 73 points to beat second place Northwest Nazarene by a comfortable 19-point margin.

There were five new records set and BJC trackmen had hands in three of them. John Grandby threw the shot 48 feet 3 inches to erase the old mark set by another Bronco, Dave Wilcox, in 1962, by four feet.

Darrell Ailor went 12 feet 3 inches in the pole vault to break the former mark of 12-2 set by Shepherd of BJC in 1962.

Blackburn Sets Mark

Lee Blackburn was the other Bronco record-setter when he toured the 880-yard run in 2:01.6 to earn a tie with Phil Kooman of NNC.

Clinton Alley and Steve Grayson dominated the short sprints for the Broncos during the meet as they finished one-two in both events. Alley was timed at 10.1 in the 100 and 23.1 in the 220. Grayson got his first in the javelin with a toss of 173 feet 5 1/2 inches to edge favorite Randy Ackley.

Bart Chaffee took the mile and Dan Baldwin was the two-mile champ for the Broncos while Lee Harvey took the high jump.

COLLEGE RODEO CANCELLED

The Intercollegiate Rodeo which had been planned for May 14 and 15, has been cancelled, according to Gary Shinn, president of the BJC Rodeo Club. Money will be refunded for tickets purchased in advance.

North ICAC Title On Line in Trip To Rexburg Friday

The Boise Junior College baseball squad will attempt to retain their northern division Intermountain Collegiate Athletic Conference baseball crown this weekend when they travel to Rexburg to play the Ricks Vikings and finish out their six-game conference schedule.

The Broncos are 3-0 in ICAC play and have to win one game to grab the title and earn a trip to Grand Junction, Colo., for the playoffs with the southern ICAC winner May 15.

The three-game series will begin Friday, May 7, when the Broncos play a single game and concludes on Saturday when they tangle with the Vikings in a double header. The team will then go on a sightseeing tour of Rexburg.

Broncos Drop 11-6 Decision to NNC

BJC racked up its fifth loss of the year Tuesday afternoon in a diamond tilt with Northwest Nazarene College in weather more suited for ducks than for baseball players, in Boise.

The home team committed five errors during the game, and a trio of Boise pitchers gave 13 free passes to first base to hamper their efforts.

Gary Hartnett started for BJC and took the loss. Don Scoggins and Steve Rector also saw mound duty.

BJC Takes Two Over Blue Mtn. and NNC

The Boise Junior College baseball team ran their record to 14-3 for the season after a pair of wins over the weekend. They blanked Blue Mountain College 8-0 and then trampled Northwest Nazarene, 11-6. Don Scoggins picked up the win over the Mountaineers, his fourth of the year without a loss, while Bill Ingram chalked up his fifth win against one loss.

In the Crusader game, the Broncos used the big bats of Steve Rector, Gary Pedrow and Ingram. Ingram and Pedrow both blasted home runs to pace the win, while Rector slammed a pair of doubles and a single.

Against Blue Mountain, Larry Heberger and Bill Haymes both collected a pair of hits, while Noah Brumby came up with a timely double to help the win.

Intramural News

The 1964-65 Boise Junior College Intramural program will come to a close Friday, May 14 when the Athletic Department, under Coach Jack Perrin, will hold a track meet.

The events to be held are the high jump, broad jump, pole vault, shot put, 100-yard dash, high hurdles, low hurdles, 880-yard relay, the mile and a fat men's 330-yard run for all men over 220 pounds.

Anyone interested should contact Mr. Perrin in the gym. Anyone can enter the meet as an individual or member of a team. No BJC track team men can participate.

In the tug-of-war contest for the turkey last Friday, the Driscoll Hall men emerged winners. The event turned out to be televised (including the free-for-all that erupted).
